

Shelley Wild

HUMANPRENEUR

“Self-development only gets you so far. It’s learning how to co-exist with others that is essential to our humanness.”

SHELLEY WILD, FOUNDER & CEO, PEOPLEHQ

Central to everything that drives Shelley is that humans are powerful and a force to be reckoned with if mismanaged. On a quest to humanise organisations, teams and families, Shelley is an agent of human performance, driven to empower relationship building, conversational change, and teaming to build human-centric cultures.

SHELLEY WILD – CEO of PeopleHQ and Founder of the Human Learning Collective.

“Shelley Wild is an accomplished educator. Her coupling of leadership and management practices with social cognitive neuroscience sets her apart from others working in both the commercial, educational and not-for-profit sectors. Her expertise involves working with both the external and ‘inner’ working of organisations, individual leaders and teams. Her approach brings with it sure-footedness helping to build sustainable and innovative organisations. As an educator, Wild’s practice exemplifies the maxim that ‘great educators do not rely on technique; real education comes from the identity and integrity of the teacher.’”

DR JUDITH McLEAN

PROFESSOR (ADJUNCT), QUEENSLAND UNIVERSITY OF TECHNOLOGY (CREATIVE INDUSTRIES)

PeopleHQ (PHQ) is a management consultancy that partners with organisations to help them navigate complex people challenges, create human-centric cultures, enable teams and lead meaningful change.

the Human Learning Collective (HLC) is a global learning network of people interested in the confidence to lean into the best version of themselves. Clients from across the globe learn about people-leadership, teaming, human capability, culture transformation and character development.

Shelley is infinitely interested in the curation of humanity, obsessed with human behaviour and passionate about the social impact humans have on one another. Her calling is to help leaders unravel complex people-challenges and help put humanity back into organisations and communities. She has been dubbed by others as a humanpreneur, bringing out the best in people and helping them enrich their practice and grow their character.

She stands on the shoulders of academic, research and consulting giants who have mentored and trained her in applied psychology, social cognitive neuroscience and functional neuroeconomics. She breathes life into evidence-based models, making them simple and easy to apply. She couples this with her design-thinking skills, accelerated learning practices and coaching to design sticky learning and sustained solutions. If she is not teaching leaders how to use people-leadership models, she uses them to consult with clients. She is best when charged with unravelling complex and competing people-challenges blocking organisational performance.

"I believe human development is not a luxury. It is a responsibility, and we owe it to ourselves, our children and the world to be more than we believe possible."

SHELLEY WILD FOUNDER & CEO, PEOPLEHQ

"Shelley Wild offers inspiring programs that have enabled me to understand myself, the colleagues I work with and how we can make highly effective decisions. I strongly recommend for any leader to undertake work with Shelley to improve their social leadership capability."

DR JANELLE ROSE

SENIOR LECTURER, HEAD OF MARKETING AND MANAGEMENT DISCIPLINE, SCHOOL OF BUSINESS, JAMES COOK UNIVERSITY

More than a "consultant", Shelley brings lived experience to her work. Her career began in education. She then partnered with her husband to lead multinational companies while founding her companies. Her industry experience is extraordinary. She has worked across twenty-five different industries and a wide variety of government departments. Currently, she is working with clients in the Health, Education, Public Service, Environment, Aviation, Indigenous Empowerment Agencies and the Resources sectors.

Shelley has served on several Boards and coached C-suite and Executive leaders and is a confidante and truster advisor to CEOs, Mayors, Executive Directors, Boards and Senior Public Servants.

"Shelley is head and shoulders above anyone else that I have worked with, and I am impressed with her ability to create an environment where people believe in themselves and others. She combines passion and energy with a systematic approach that results in empowering and inspiring others. Her willingness to 'speak from the heart' and share her journey helps to create a safe environment where the horizon of the human spirit is stretched. She firmly believes that we can be more than what we are and I am indebted to her for all she has so generously given me."

RICKY BURGESS

CEO, WESTERN AUSTRALIAN LOCAL GOVERNMENT AUTHORITY, PERTH

OTHER INFO

- Award-winning entrepreneur
- Owned and operated enterprises of up to $30M and teams of 8 to 250 personnel
- Established a global ed-tech company using advanced social learning technology
- Held Directorship on economic, social and cultural not-for-profit organisations
- Ministerial appointment to a State and Federal Government funded economic, social and cultural development body
- Community leader and philanthropist
- Hailed by professors, doctors of psychology, neuroscientists and CEOs as a brilliant applicer and hands-on practitioner that makes the "science guff" real, practical, accessible and leader-friendly
- Speaking at National and International Conferences
- Passionate about regional Australia
- At 22 years of age, Shelley won her first leadership role as a school Principal

SPEAKER STYLE

Shelley Wild is a generous and engaging speaker. She brings a refreshing air of vulnerability and bravery to conversations about human capability – conversations she says aren't happening that need to happen.

Intentionally disarming and candid, Shelley invites you to disrupt your thinking. She is renowned for speaking outside the box, leaving you feeling reflective and poised for more. Her cross-industry and cross-cultural versatility bring entrepreneurial creativity to her presentations. And her simple frameworks and practical tools empower you to take action tomorrow.

